Governor Pat McCrory's Weekly Newsletter

June 2, 2014

Dedicating the "Carolina Field of Honor"

Governor McCrory was in Kernersville Saturday, to celebrate the opening of the Carolina Field of Honor in Triad Park. The memorial honors all who have served our great nation in the Armed Forces.

The Triad region has one of the largest concentrations of veterans in the state.

Earlier in the day, Governor McCrory took part in the Oasis Shriners Summer Ceremonial in Blowing Rock. He also attended the State Troopers Family Day at Tweetsie Railroad, before heading back to downtown Blowing Rock to be a part of the Shriners parade.

Tyton BioEnergy Systems Investing $36 Million in Hoke, Wake & Surrounding Counties

Governor McCrory announced today that Tyton BioEnergy Systems, a company based in Danville, Va., is restarting the former Clean Burn Fuels biorefinery in Hoke County as part of

Remembering Dr. Maya Angelou

Governor McCrory issued the following statement following the passing of Dr. Maya Angelou on Wednesday, May 28, at her home in Winston-Salem:

“Dr. Maya Angelou was a giant in every endeavor she chose to devote her talents. She counseled presidents and historic figures such as Dr. Martin Luther King. Yet, she’ll be remembered most for her compassion for people around the world, regardless of their station in life. Maya Angelou was a tremendous source of pride for North Carolina and her adopted state is grieving her loss.”
