What is ThinkPlenty?

ThinkPlenty is a two-day conference that brings citizens together to walk through the process of design thinking to quickly build and prototype solutions to alleviate hunger in Charlotte.

What is design thinking?

IDEO.org explains that design thinking offers problem solvers of any stripe a chance to design with communities, to deeply understand the people they're looking to serve, to dream up sources of ideas, and to create innovative solutions rooted in people's actual needs. ThinkPlenty participants will actively learn the process from design thinkers.

Who are the design thinkers?

We've assembled an awesome roster of design thinkers for the weekend. Click any of the below images to learn more about each one, and come meet them all at ThinkPlenty September 18-19.
