

February, 2016

Greetings!,

On Sunday, January 31, 2016, 16 teams competed in the FIRST Tech Challenge (FTC) Qualifier tournament held at Appalachian State University in Boone, NC. At the conclusion of the event, the "Autonomous Rex" team from 100 Black Men of Greater Charlotte's Movement of Youth Program was selected to compete in the State tournament on February 20, 2016, at North Carolina A&T University in Greensboro - Home of the Greatest Homecoming on Earth (GHOE). This honor is awarded to the top 4 teams competing in each qualifying event.

I hope you can make it out to support this Charlotte-area team. The doors open at 7:30AM and the tournament opening ceremony begins at 10:30AM. The tournament will end at approximately 5:00 PM. It will be held at the Corbett Sports Center - 1601 E. Market St., Greensboro NC.

The team won the Rockwell Collins Innovate Award, which celebrates a team that not only thinks outside the box, but also has the ingenuity and inventiveness to make their designs come to life. This judged award is given to the team that has the most innovative and creative robot design solution to any or all specific field elements or components in the FTC game.

The team also received recognition for inspiring their local community as co-hosts for the first ever FTC Qualifying tournament in Charlotte, held at ImagineOn in January.

FTC is a component of the US FIRST robotics program for students in grades 6-12. Teams meet in head to head competition, having 10 weeks to design, build and program their robots. N.C. A&T's College of Engineering serves as the affiliate partner for the State and manages all regional and state competitions for NC FIRST LEGO League (FLL) and NC FIRST Tech Challenge (FTC).
