

How to Market Your Child for College

Keys to Helping Your Kid Achieve Academic Success

1. Get involved with your child and their school, PTA, SLT and etc..
2. Exposure,Exposure,Exposure your child to the best of things
3. Know your child's counselor at the school (on contact)
4. What is important to them is important to you.
5. Always, Always Encourage, tell your child over and over again how much of a winner they really are. (Don't stop, even when their response is negative).
6. Do your research... 9th to 12th grade.
7. You have POWER as a parent. Teachers will treat your child differently when they know you are behind them in every way. So send out those Emails.
8. Keep your child doing some form of Volunteer Work. Start early, 9th grade always to 12th grade. (There are scholarships out there just for volunteer work; such as Toyota Community Service Scholarship. I think it's about 10,000?
9. Always, always keep a log of your child's accomplishments and volunteer work. (Keep Running Log) because you will forget later Create a Resume with your child now and keep it current all way to graduation. Always update.
10. Be involved in your child's school schedule. Your child should be taking at least 1 honor class or AP or IB class.
