Please share information about JCSU mini maker conference.

The James B. Duke Memorial Library at Johnson C. Smith University in collaboration with Discovery Place Education Studio is hosting a full-day maker event that will provide expert panel discussions with librarians, makers, and hackers as well as hands-on breakout sessions. 3D Printers and CNC devices will be on hand to demonstrate their processes, as well as previously cut examples of laser cut materials.

This event is open to all librarians, library board or foundation members, alumni, community members, CMS teachers, educators, and librarians. Anyone interested in learning more about makerspaces.

By registering for this event, you are agreeing that Johnson C. Smith University and the James B. Duke Memorial Library may share photos and other information on our website and social media outlets.
