Steve

Can you share this below with the Tuesday Morning group? Marion is my cousin, and she studied the impact of redlining (laws that forbid people of color from owning property in certain parts of town) on Charlotte. She produced a piece of art about redlining that is now in front of the McColl Center, and she will be in town June 7 to present it.

Please let people know they need to RSVP just so the McColl Center can plan for the number who will attend. There is no cost.

Thanks!

Jennifer Roberts
