Steve -

Congress has ceded too much power to the executive branch. Republican and Democratic Presidents alike have sent our troops into battle with unclear and never-ending missions.

Two big veterans groups — one Democratic and one Republican — just announced that they are taking bipartisan action on this issue. They are pushing Congress to stop our country's endless wars.

This issue is personal to me. I served overseas in the Marines, and I understand the cost of war.

It's time for us to have a serious conversation about our country's involvement overseas and demand action from Congress.

Sign my petition: Tell Congress to narrow the authorizations of military force passed after Sept. 11, 2001 and act as a check on executive power.

The power to declare war rests solely with Congress. That's in our Constitution.

Thanks for making your voice heard,

Dan McCready
