Will you add your name to stand with our teachers?

Steve -

Thousands of teachers across our state are marching in Raleigh today to demand better, and I stand with them in their fight.

Every child in North Carolina deserves a great education, no matter their zip code.

But instead of paying teachers their due, lowering class sizes and investing in our public schools, the sad truth is, politicians in Raleigh and Washington are trying to tear down public education. I question if some of them, like Betsy DeVos, even believe in public schools.

If you agree that our children deserve better, add your name to mine to stand with our educators.

As a dad of four little kids and a product of North Carolina's public schools, I get it.

But when I think about the teacher in Fayetteville who told me she has to take money out of her own pocket to buy textbooks and pencils for her students, I remember what's at stake and why we're fighting.

Anyone who knows a teacher knows how hard they work and how they shape our kids.

Add your name: Tell our elected leaders to take action. If we believe every kid deserves a great education, then we need to support our educators.

Thank you in advance for adding your name!

- Dan
