Will you become a citizen cosponsor of my plan to lower prescription drug prices?

Steve -

A lot of people ask me: "What's the biggest issue in the district?"

It's healthcare. Every day out on the campaign trail I meet someone who can't afford to see a doctor or buy the prescription drugs they need. Year after year, Big Pharma keeps raising prices on American families.

Nobody should go bankrupt because they get sick. That's why I'm releasing a plan to lower prescription drug prices.

My plan would:

- Stop unjustified, drastic price hikes on lifesaving drugs like insulin, whose price has tripled in the last decade
- Allow Medicare to use its purchasing power to negotiate drug prices
- Address foreign freeloading where Americans are paying more for prescription drugs than people anywhere in the world
- Streamline approvals for lower-cost generic drugs and stop drug makers from colluding on generic drug prices

These reforms and the others in my plan would save billions for consumers and taxpayers while increasing access to lifesaving medicine.

If you want to lower prescription drug prices, please add your name to become a citizen co-sponsor of my plan.

Thank you in advance for making your voice heard on this issue.

Yours in this fight,

Dan
