Steve -

Two weeks from today, we'll wake up knowing the results of this special election.

There's no doubt this race is going to be close. Last November, just 905 votes separated us from our opponent before the Republican cheating was discovered. Once again, the polling has us tied, and we have a real shot at winning.

In a race this close, all of your support — every door knocked, every phone called and every dollar given — matters in these final days.

So far we've held our own. Despite the far-right Republican special interests spending millions attacking me on TV, we have the momentum. But in light of the newly announced attacks, we need to push even harder.

I don't want us to wake up after Election Day and ask if we could have done more. We've been in this fight too long, and there's too much at stake for our country. That's why I'm asking now:

Will you make a \$3 donation to our campaign today? We'll put it to work immediately making sure voters turn out to vote.

This has been a long battle. We ran a marathon through last November's midterm, and after we exposed the Republican election fraud, we kept running through this special election. Now, we're in the final stretch.

So let's leave it all on the field.

Hang with me now, and let's be the first Democrat since 1963 to finally represent this district!
