We can still ramp up our strategy with your help

We wanted to make sure you saw our note over the weekend updating you on this race. Three polls show this special election in a dead heat, but Republicans just upped their spending. Will you chip in \$3 right now to help us stop them from buying this seat? Dan's counting on us.

Steve -

On Friday, three new polls showed our race within the margin of error. That's great! It means our strategy is working.

But we just got word that Republican special interests have upped their spending against us. Three far-right PACs alone are now spending more than $6 million against us. This doesn't even include the money our opponent is spending directly.

That's not good.

They are trying to stop our momentum by drowning out our voices at the last second, but it's not too late for us to fight back.

If our grassroots team steps up and rushes support our way, we can ramp up our strategy and make sure Dan's message breaks through.

Will you donate \$3 right now to help us stop far-right special interests from buying this seat? It would go a long way toward countering the \$6 million outside groups are spending against us.

There are only 9 days until Election Day, so this is a make-or-break moment for us. Just a few votes could determine whether we flip this seat or come up short.

Your support today is critical to helping us get across the finish line. Thank you in advance for chipping in!

- Team McCready
