Dear Friends,

2019 has been a great year despite some personal challenges with health issues. Last January I called the 24/7 nurse hotline and ended up spending a week in the hospital with a major health issue which I was fortunate to overcome with medical care. I've come to more fully realize the importance of access to healthcare and this experience contributed to my decision to run for State Treasurer.

I will have Governor Cooper's back in the fight to expand Medicaid and protect taxpayers' money. I look forward to championing affordable health care for all North Carolinians as your next State Treasurer. Let's continue the momentum for a healthier North Carolina in 2020!
