VISION

PEERING INTO THE FUTURE OF DEMOCRACY WITH Sam Gill

Dear Sarah,

This week on VISION, we'll start a new deep dive into COVID-19's impact on the national elections. Together, we'll unpack important issues around voting as we prepare for what could possibly be one of the most scrutinized elections in our lifetimes.

Tomorrow, we'll have a conversation with Nate Persily, a Stanford law professor and campaign expert. He'll help us examine how the current crisis could shape the next national election, and what we can do to prepare.

Episode 5: Election Disrupted with Nate Persily

Nate is the James B. McClatchy Professor of Law at Stanford Law School, with appointments in Political Science, Communication, and the Freeman Spogli Institute. He is co-director of the Stanford Cyber Policy Center, the Stanford Project on Democracy and the Internet, and Social Science One, an initiative to facilitate greater sharing of privacy-protected Facebook data to social scientists.
