June 22 – 26

Join us from home to engage in live conversations about the future of our communities and democracy.

INFORMED & ENGAGED

Shifting tech trends in journalism

with Amy Webb and Sam Guzik

Monday, June 22, 1 p.m. ET | 10 a.m. PT

The coronavirus pandemic and rising racial justice movements have accelerated news organizations' embrace of emerging technologies. On Episode 2 of Informed & Engaged, presented with the Online News Association, join us for a conversation with Amy Webb, one of America's leading futurists, and Sam Guzik, product director at Hearst Newspapers, on which tech trends will have a long-lasting impact on journalism.

Hosted by Paul Cheung, Director/Journalism + Technology Innovation at Knight Foundation

COAST TO COAST

Building bridges in times of unrest

with Jay Pitter and Ana Sofia Pelaez

Tuesday, June 23, 1 p.m. ET | 10 a.m. PT

In America's current moment of reckoning, how can we build connections across races and ethnicities? How can addressing anti-blackness across diverse communities inform our conversations and action? On Episode 7 of Coast to Coast, we'll hear from Jay Pitter, international placemaker, and Ana Sofía Peláez from the Miami Freedom Project. They'll share actionable ways we can use place to connect, engage, and move the needle forward.

Hosted by Lilian Coral and Lilly Weinberg | Knight directors in the Community and National Initiatives Program

VISION

Free speech in 2020

with Geoffrey Stone

Thursday, June 25, 1 p.m. ET | 10 a.m. PT

What does free speech look like in this time of turbulence and change? Is the COVID-19 pandemic changing how we speak out? Are the current conversations around race and equity shaping why use our voice? On Episode 9 of VISION, we'll hear from Geoffrey Stone, a University of Chicago law professor and leading thinker on free speech in times of crisis. He'll share his insights on how we can actively engage in our democracy in this unusual time.

Hosted by Sam Gill | SVP/Chief Program Officer at Knight Foundation

DISCOVERY

Walking the talk: Social impact of the arts

with Aja Monet and Clay Lord

Friday, June 26, 1 p.m. ET | 10 a.m. PT

As conversations on race and equity continue across the nation, the arts are playing a prominent and unique role in shaping informed, engaged and inclusive communities. On Episode 2 of DISCOVERY, we'll hear from poet, writer and lyricist Aja Monet, and Clay Lord, Americans for the Arts vice president of strategic impact. They'll take a deep dive into how the arts and individual artists impact society and address systemic issues.

Hosted by Priya Sircar | Director/Arts at Knight Foundation
