Council for Children's Rights

We are all trying to do the right thing. But what about the rights thing?

Children's rights are human rights. For over 40 years Council for Children's Rights has fought for social justice and civil rights to ensure better futures for kids. No human being is a lost cause, especially a child. Will you join us and stand up for them?

DONATE NOW

Donate for Dad!

This Father's Day give your dad (or uncle, cousin, brother, best friend...) a gift in his honor to the Council. It's a perfect reminder of how thankful you are for their love and strength. Not everyone is lucky enough to know this kind of parental support. That's why the Council exists.

For any donations made today or Saturday, June 20, we will email you a special PDF card to print and share with him on his special day.

DONATE FOR DAD!

$60,000
is our goal.

We're currently at $37,800.

We started the month with a goal of $60,000 – and, thanks to a lot of you, we've now raised $37,800!*

But we can't stop now. Will you make a gift today?

If you've already given, thank you so much. If you can, please spread the word. Forward this email to a friend and tell them why you support this work. Or post on social media and raise our voices even louder!

CELEBRATE

Council for Children's Rights' journey to instill policies and practices that reflect inclusion, diversity, and racial equity begins today with the long overdue recognition of Juneteenth. Our office will be closed.

Please take time to learn about Juneteenth, one of the oldest nationally-celebrated commemorations of the end of slavery in the U.S. This day honors Black history and culture, and the immense contributions the Black community has made to our society.
