Steve,

Cynthia Wallace is exactly the fighter North Carolina's Ninth Congressional District needs right now. Will you join me in supporting Cynthia's campaign and chip in \$10 or more today?

Cynthia grew up in rural Georgia where her family instilled the values of hard work and the power of a good education. Those lessons led her to Spelman College where she received a degree in Mathematics and then went on to receive her Master of Science in Statistics at the University of North Florida. She took that education and built a 25-year career in financial services with a focus on Risk and Regulatory Compliance.

With her background, Cynthia is ready to fight like hell for the people of North Carolina so that everyone can receive a quality education, have access to affordable health care, and ensure equal pay for equal work.

Cynthia Wallace is ready to get off the sidelines and take her financial services experience from interpreting laws to going to congress to write laws for the good of the people in North Carolina's Ninth District. And she needs our help to get there.

Cynthia is coming up on one of her biggest FEC deadlines in 2 days, and she needs to raise \$3,729 before midnight on June 30. Chip in \$10 or more today to help her flip this seat.

Cynthia is running against incumbent Dan Bishop, who has repeatedly voted to roll back the Affordable Care Act that would cause thousands of North Carolinians to lose their health care coverage especially as North Carolina has failed to expand Medicaid. He's putting partisan talking points ahead of the people of his district and they deserve better.

Join me and support Cynthia with a \$10 or \$25 gift today before her FEC deadline on June 30.

Thank you,

Kirsten Gillibrand

U.S. Senator, New York
