Dan Bishop's Words Are Shameful

Steve,

Even though we just wrapped up our most-critical end-of-quarter deadline, the dog-whistle attacks coming from our congressman cannot be ignored. Dan Bishop just released a video glorifying an incendiary speech he made on the House floor. For many North Carolinians, hearing his words inflict pain, and divide our community rather than unite us.

Let's be frank here: When someone references an "inalienable right to property" in relation to confederate statues, we know what they're talking about. And what he's saying is a desire to celebrate a history of injustice and hate that continues to haunt our nation today.

Seeing a member of Congress highlight the small population of non-peaceful protests is an attempt to minimize the movement to end the systemic racism that exists within our society that so many peaceful protesters are trying to change.

We cannot allow those who want to profit in division to continue to represent us. That's why I am running for Congress, to bring compassionate and rational leadership to Washington that fights for our values.

We cannot let his hurtful remarks stand. That's why we've set a rapid response goal of \$3,000. We cannot bring leadership change to NC-09 without grassroots supporters like you. Can you chip in \$25 or more today so we can ensure compassionate, responsible leadership for North Carolina?
