Center for Community Transitions receives $25K gift from Bob Barker Company to support clients and families impacted by incarceration

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Charlotte, NC, July 30, 2020 – The Center for Community Transitions (CCT) received a $25,000 donation from the Bob Barker Company to support the organization’s “impactful work” of helping individuals and families who have had contact with the criminal justice system.

“We’re grateful to the Bob Barker Company for helping us continue providing essential services to those in our community who have been impacted by incarceration,” said Patrice Funderburg, CCT executive director. “It was a wonderful surprise to receive this generous gift, especially now when nonprofit organizations such as CCT are facing unprecedented challenges throughout the COVID-19 pandemic and beyond.”

The donation will help support CCT’s three vital programs.

LifeWorks! provides clients practical training, employment seeking assistance and behavioral tools to help them reach their professional and personal goals.

Families Doing Time offers academic, enrichment and social support to families and children with incarcerated or deported loved ones. Center for Women is a 30-bed residential program to help women successfully reenter the community through employment plans, education and vocational training, life skills workshops, counseling and family reunification assistance.

“Our company wanted to step in and provide this extra check for you and your work, especially with people returning from jail or prison. We have been following the news about early releases and wanted to send this extra amount to help you continue your important work,” said Founder and CEO Bob Barker in a letter to Funderburg.

About the Center for Community Transitions
 The Center for Community Transitions is a nonprofit organization founded in 1974 to help strengthen the community and reduce recidivism by providing people with criminal records and their families tools and resources to rebuild their lives. CCT's work centers on successful reentry through employment and transition services, financial stability, alternatives to incarceration, restoring and supporting family bonds, and identifying healthy and productive ways of living.
