

WEBINAR SERIES

The “Big Five” Components and the Science of Reading: A Fresh Look

Register Once for Access to All Five Webinars

In this webinar series, we’ll deconstruct an important model in the science of reading—Scarborough’s Reading Rope—to explore how to effectively and joyfully teach the “big five” components of reading.

Walk away with

- practical tips for translating the science of reading research into K–2 classroom practice.
- a deeper understanding of effective instruction in phonemic awareness, phonics, fluency, vocabulary, and comprehension.
- teaching techniques for each component of reading.

Following each session, Zaner-Bloser will provide access to the webinar recording—plus a downloadable skill-building activity pack for each topic.
