Dear Steve,

2020 has been quite a year: a new President Elect ... a global pandemic that has turned the world upside down ... and the deaths of George Floyd, Breonna Taylor and countless others have propelled the Black Lives Matter movement forward. All of this, in addition to the stresses of everyday life.

We know it's a tough time for everybody, but especially for the formerly incarcerated population who have been hit even harder emotionally, economically and healthwise during this time. So this holiday season we have launched our Unite for Second Chances campaign asking you to unite with CCT by making a tax-deductable donation of \$25, \$50, \$100, \$250 or more so that we can continue to provide more individuals and families, affected by incarceration, with Second Chances.

... Second chances to people like former CCT client, Ebony ... Ebony was in prison for 10 years for drug trafficking charges. Before she was released in 2019, she spent her remaining two years of incarceration at CCT's Center for Women and, as a result, is thriving today. Watch this this 3 minute inspirational video to learn more about Ebony's journey.

If your circumstances allow, please donate to CCT and help more people like Ebony. Your donation will go directly towards helping CCT achieve the following 2021 goals:

- Families Doing Time: We will strengthen family resilience and social emotional growth for 200 children and 150 caregivers.
- LifeWorks!: We will provide employment readiness and retention services to over 300 formerly incarcerated men and women.
- Center for Women: We will support 45+ women so they can re-enter our community in a healthy way.

Thanks for your past support and current consideration to Unite for Second Chances with a gift of \$25, \$50, \$100, \$250 or more. We wish you good health and peace this holiday season, into 2021 and beyond.

Donate to CCT Today!
