Hi there,

When Michelle and I began this Foundation, we knew that empowering talented young leaders to make a difference in their communities was the most powerful way we could give back. We knew there were young people all over the world ready to step up and tackle the great challenges of our time.

By giving to our Foundation this holiday season, you're not just helping to train leaders for the future, you're supporting the folks on the front lines working to rebuild our communities right now.

The events of this year have only proven that impassioned young people, organizing to support their communities, are one of the most powerful forces for good in our world.

Whether confronting a global pandemic or marching for equal justice and real change, it was young people across the globe who inspired us all by making sure their voices were heard this year.

So, this holiday season, I'm asking you to join Michelle and me in supporting the courageous young leaders working to build a better world for all of us.

The young people we support are working to ensure a future filled with more hope, opportunity, and equality. We need your help to ensure their work continues.

Gratefully,

—Barack
