Now is the time to make an impact in Charlotte-Mecklenburg!

Join the NC Education Corps

Apply to become a tutor or contract tracer in Charlotte-Mecklenburg.

Covid-19 has dramatically disrupted K-12 education across the state. Remote learning, social and emotional and racial equity challenges and economic instability are plaguing student's ability to thrive. You can make a difference bridging these gaps.

The call to action is simple: Help tackle the most pressing needs of our schools.

Work with an inspiring group of North Carolinians who also see themselves as part of the solution. Grow your citizenship and leadership skills, mindsets and capabilities. Build your professional network with public servants, activists and social entrepreneurs from the mountains to the sea.

Apply by February 20 for the opportunity to serve as first responders and span the education divide, supporting NC students who need it the most.

NC Education Corps is a joint project of the North Carolina State Board of Education and the governor's office, matching compassionate and entrepreneurial leaders with substantive opportunities to make a meaningful impact in the lives of K-12 students.
