Much of Dr. William Chafe's professional scholarship reflects his long-term interest in issues of race and gender equality. Former dean of the faculty of arts and sciences at Duke University, he is also a past president of the Organization of American Historians. He is an award-winning author of several books and a co-founder of the Duke-UNC Center for Research on Women, the Duke Center for the Study of Civil Rights and Race Relations, and the Duke Center for Documentary Studies. He currently serves as a member of a working group dedicated to creating Truth, Justice, and Reconciliation Commissions throughout the country. See: “Before Reconciliation, We Must Come to Grips with NC’s History on Race” (<https://bit.ly/3kaNVqW> (Click on live link below flyer)).
