CONTRIBUTE TO OUR GROWING PROGRAMMATIC WORK

Steve,

We've got exciting news to share – our team is growing! This week, we are thrilled to welcome two new staff members to the New Rural Project who each bring a wealth of programming expertise to our team.

Alexa Roberts will join us as our first Program Director.

Alexa has lived in Moore County since 2000, and her experience living and working in and advocating for rural communities has fortified strong relationships with leaders across our area. She has served as the Mayor of the Village of Whispering Pines and is currently serving as a council member of the Village. Alexa holds a bachelor's degree from Fordham University and has quite a reputation as a strong advocate for public education.

Also joining NRP is D'Angelo

Gatewood, our new Program

Associate. Born and raised in Anson County, D'Angelo has a deep understanding of the difficulties our rural communities face. After earning a bachelor's degree from UNC-Chapel Hill in Media and Journalism and an additional bachelor's degree in Spanish from the University of Oklahoma, D'Angelo earned great experience in social media marketing. For the next two months, D'Angelo will help us build our Barbershop Conversations program in Anson County as well as support our social media and online presence.

I know everyone here at the New Rural Project is very excited about having these two exceptional new staff members on our team. Please help us support the work of our programming team by making a \$25 investment today!

We're excited to see Alexa and D'Angelo apply their experience, passion, and education to help us deepen our relationships and impact in rural counties. The addition of these experienced folks means we'll be able to engage more with our community and broaden the reach of our work.

Thank you for supporting our efforts,

Cynthia Wallace
