Let's
REINVENT
School!

Dr. Ross Danis

"Let's Reinvent School" is a weekly radio program focused on reinventing public education so that all young people, regardless of race, class, gender, or zip code, are prepared for their future and not our past. The program will not focus on what's wrong. Together, we are going to focus on what's possible.

Every Thursday at 1:00 EST on VoiceAmerica!

Upcoming Episodes

March 17, 2022: How did we get here?

In this first episode we "unpack" school. How and when did we begin educating young people in the United States? Who was eligible to attend school and for how long? What were the initial goals? How have those goals changed?

March 24, 2022: What's Possible?

In episode 2, we look at structural and systemic challenges that are contributing to our schools not being about to meet the diverse needs of diverse students. What would it take make school both more efficient and effective? Again, let's not ask what's wrong. Let's ask, what's possible?

March 31, 2022: Closing the Great Divide

In this episode we are going to explore curriculum options . Options that are presented to young people and their parents that can change the trajectory of a young person's life.

And...

- The Teacher Crisis: What can we do to recruit and retain the best and the brightest?
- How can we make our schools more equitable?
- How can we address both the academic needs of young people as well as their social and emotional needs?
