Steve,

I wanted to share something important with you that we're doing here at Dirt Road PAC.

For years, we've seen people check out of engaging in politics altogether — especially in red and rural communities.

As our founder Jaime Harrison learned going door-to-door one day in rural South Carolina, far too many folks haven't seen our government impact their communities. Paving roads. Building schools. Keeping our hospitals open. And they've stayed on the sidelines.

So we at Dirt Road PAC are here to change that. Not only by helping Democrats compete in the battleground states and toss-up races, but everywhere.

Not just Georgia or North Carolina — but Arkansas, Louisiana, Kentucky, and everywhere else where people may not feel like they have a voice.

Supporting local parties, grassroots organizations, and candidates running up and down the ballot.

We might not win every race, but we've got to start somewhere. And donations from grassroots supporters like you help us get the job done.

So Steve, will you pitch in \$3 or whatever amount works for you today to support Dirt Road PAC?
