We're ready for a political transformation, Steve, but it's up to us to seize this opportunity. That's why Emerge is empowering Democratic women to run for office and win – from school boards to state houses all over the country.

Through our innovative programs, designed by women for women, we're providing grassroots community champions with the battle-tested strategies they need on the campaign trail and beyond. But we're not stopping there: We're building and growing a nationwide sisterhood to elevate marginalized voices, pack the political pipeline, and achieve real representation for all.

Emerge is the starting ground for powerhouse leaders like Secretary of the Interior Deb Haaland, Congresswoman Lucy McBath, and Mayor Michelle Wu. Over 1,000 Emerge alums just like them are currently in office, fighting for the policies and change our communities desperately need.

But with far-right extremism and hateful GOP policies harming our communities at every turn, we have to build our momentum and flip states fully blue by recruiting, training, and electing Democratic women up and down the ballot this year. That's why we're reaching out with an urgent ask for you, Steve:

Will you split a donation of \$10 or more between Emerge and Dirt Road PAC right now to help power the political transformation we need and elect Democratic women up and down the ballot in the critical election this year?
