OUR MISSION

The mission of this organization is to promote, research, preserve, interpret, and disseminate information about African American life, history and culture to the global community.

We strive to foster the sharing of this region's history as it relates to African-Americans, taking particular note of communities that have been lost due to urban growth. The CMBHC also works with other community groups and organizations to enhance their efforts to preserve our history and to create and support other events, activities and programs consistent with our goals.

The CMBHC seeks to encourage awareness, conduct research, produce writings, and exhibit Charlotte's African American history at all levels. We believe that this will help to better inform all citizens of Charlotte on the contributions of African Americans in the city, region, and nation: thus fostering better overall community relations.
