Hi there,

Michelle and I started the Obama Foundation to help a new generation build a better tomorrow.

Right now, we're facing our share of challenges. Democratic ideals are under assault around the world, climate change is threatening more and more communities, growing inequality is making it harder for families to get a fair shot, and we're still recovering from the effects of a global pandemic.

But what makes me hopeful for the future are the inspiring leaders I've had the chance to meet through the Obama Foundation who are pointing the way forward.

These leaders aren't waiting for someone else to solve these big problems. Instead, often in the face of long odds, they are rolling up their sleeves to make a difference, one neighborhood, one school, one community at a time.

The challenges we face are too great for any one person to solve. It will take sustained effort from brave leaders, organizations, and committed supporters like you willing to work together to make progress possible.

I hope you'll join us,

—Barack
