Thank You!

This holiday season, Read Charlotte is incredibly grateful for your support and partnership.

As the community work continues to address all of the challenges that our schools and families face today, we work to do our part by making it easier for adults to take actions proven to help children learn to read.

Together, we are working to equip the adults in children's lives – whether in the classroom, out-of-school, or at home – with the confidence, knowledge, and resources to individualize reading instruction to meet each child's unique needs. Our reading is high-quality, repeatable implementation that can be scaled across our community.

We are more confident than ever that working together, we can solve the reading crisis and put our children on a path for success and opportunity.

Happy Holidays
from your friends at Read Charlotte.
