Welcome

Dr. Trenita Crouch

QM & Training Director

Greetings! My name is Dr. Trenita Crouch, and I'm thrilled to be a part of the Genesis Project family. I have over 25 years of professional expertise in the field of mental/behavioral health. I have a doctorate in human services with a focus in leadership & organizational management. I have experience working with MH, DD, and SA populations across the spectrum. I previously held the position of Director of Operations for a Behavioral Health Organization before joining the Genesis Project team. I assisted in the restructuring and stabilization of the previous company during my time there. The supervision and execution of Quality Assurance & Quality Improvement goals were some of the QM's main areas of attention. Preparing and carrying out internal utilization, peer and clinical reviews, chart audits, and employee input to resolve shortcomings were also areas of focus. Surprisingly, I am a native of Charlotte, NC. In my spare time, I enjoy working out, traveling, and spending time with family & friends.

Here is some GOOD Information
Rid yourself of Rats and Mice

To humans and pets, BugMD's Vamoose smells clean and fresh... but mice, rats and other vermin can't stand the smell. The potent oil infusion irritates a rodent's nose and throat so severely, they stay far away from the source. In fact, Vamoose was shown in studies to repel mice and rats for up to 30 days!

BugMD's Vamoose pouches are infused with a combination of Mother Nature's potent rodenticides: cornmint, citronella, and linseed essential oils.
