Dear Stephen,

I am delighted to share with you that two new leaders, who greatly contribute to their communities, are joining Knight Foundation's Board of Trustees.

The new trustees are Dr. Michael Marsicano, former President and CEO of Foundation For The Carolinas, a community foundation serving the metropolitan Charlotte region, and Matthew Stepka, managing partner of Machina Ventures, an investment firm focused on early-stage artificial intelligence and data science companies.

Their leadership comes at a critical time in the history of the foundation and will help elevate Knight's work in funding journalism, arts, research in areas of media and democracy, and the success of cities where the Knight brothers published newspapers.

We are thrilled to add them to our Board of distinguished leaders. Please join me in welcoming Michael and Matthew to Knight Foundation.

Best,

Alberto Ibargüen

President
Knight Foundation
