FINAL THOUGHTS

On Wednesday, I was honored to speak at the ribbon cutting for The Gaston at North End, a new affordable housing development in the 12th District led by Inlivan, formerly the Charlotte Housing Authority.

If you look across the City, you'll see Inlivan's impact everywhere you go. The housing authority serves almost 30,000 people in our community by providing housing, shelter, and services to low-income residents.

I believe housing is a human right – even if you're working for minimum wage.

If you've heard me speak to your community or organization before, or if you read a lot of Adams Alerts, you may have heard me talk about my "4Hs." They're my top priorities as your representative in Congress: Higher Education, Healthcare, Hunger, and housing - specifically affordable housing.

In Congress, I've been proud to secure millions of dollars for affordable housing across our community in the form of community project funding. I'm especially proud my bipartisan LIFELINE Act— which I introduced with Rep. David Rouzer of North Carolina, and Senators Leahy of Vermont and Collins of Maine— was adopted as policy by President Biden's Treasury Department.

The policy put forward by the LIFELINE Act freed up over $8,000,000,000 nationwide for affordable housing construction.

I wish that food and shelter didn't have to be a priority, but all too often as a society we fail to deliver those essentials. That's why I'm especially proud to celebrate the work of Inlivan and all of our affordable housing partners as we work to find shelter for everyone in our community - especially those making $20,000 to $50,000 a year.

That's where I'll lay my hat for this week. Thanks for reading!

Sincerely,
Alma
