Hey,

The other day, I saw a Facebook friend post his GoFundMe account for classroom materials!

He's a male educator of color in DC who'd recently learned there wasn't a budget to pay for additional STEAM materials for his students. This situation looks all too similar for many teachers, but it's even more alarming for our male teachers of color who leave the profession at higher rates than others.

The Apple Fund is proud to be part of the solution, providing much-needed assistance to retain these exceptional educators. We've made progress towards our goal today and we're not done yet.

You've already shown your commitment to this cause, and I invite you to make one final push with us. We need 27 more donations to meet one of our milestones.

Will you give a \$30 gift to support retaining male educators of color in the education field?

Every dollar brings us closer to ensuring male educators of color have the resources to thrive (and stay) in the classroom. Together, we can continue to make a lasting impact on education and support the teachers who make it all possible.

Thank you for your incredible support and dedication to male educators of color. Let's finish strong!
