But he is!

Mr. Stanley, an elementary teacher in Tennessee, received a stipend from our Apple Fund for an after-school robotics club. He reached out because we wanted to bring STEM activities to his elementary students to provide exposure to the sciences.

And he did just that (check it out here).

Like Mr. Stanley, we want to provide more male educators of color with these opportunities.

We are closing in on our goal. Will you contribute today and give another educator a chance to start his robotics club or attend a workshop that'll grow his skills as an educator? Click here to give a gift.

The Apple Fund will be awarded to three educators monthly, and we will share our first winners this October! Your contribution can help us continue empowering male educators of color like Mr. Stanley, providing classroom supplies and professional development opportunities.

Let's make a difference together.

Impactfully Yours,
Leah Rapley
