

The story behind QCR, plus a full-circle moment for our team!

From Read Charlotte <elise@readcharlotte.org>
To Steve Johnston <sjohnston@tuesdayforumcharlotte.org>
Date 2024-04-08 11:59

New tutoring tool focuses on early intervention in reading development

Kindergarten is a critical year for early literacy, so much so that Read Charlotte's updated strategy includes a focus on kindergarten success, and one of our major initiatives of 2023 was the development of a new tutoring tool called Queen City Readers that helps build basic word reading skills.

Read more about the tool, its development, and how it's being used in our community today in our latest blog.

Read the blog

Read Charlotte team presents at Carnegie Foundation's Summit on Improvement in Education

We're so proud to share that our team presented at the Carnegie Foundation's 2024 Summit on Improvement in Education! Their presentation, "Using Improvement Science to Adapt Evidence-Based Interventions," focused on the use of improvement science principles to develop our Queen City Readers tutoring tool.

Our team looks forward to this conference every year, and learns so much from each session. Presenting was truly a full-circle moment!

Hornets Book Bus helps spread Read Together message

The Charlotte Hornets Book Bus is helping to spread the Read Together message far and wide!

Check out these amazing pictures from a recent school visit. We love seeing kids' excitement and enthusiasm as they pledge to become reading superheroes!

Do you know a Reading Hero?

Help us celebrate our community's Reading Heroes!

If you know someone going above and beyond to help children succeed in reading, nominate them to be a Reading Hero. Visit our website to learn more, or to submit your nomination!

Submit a nomination

Copyright © 2024 Read Charlotte, All rights reserved.

Our mailing address is:

220 N. Tryon Street
Charlotte, NC 28202

Want to change how you receive these emails?

You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list