Meck County EMFV Interest Flyer.docx.pdf (~236 KB)

We are excited to announce our Extension Master Food Volunteer Program! Please share this info to your networks.

We are looking for anyone interested in cooking, nutrition, food safety, or food systems to join our Extension Master Food Volunteer Program!

The NC State Extension Master Food Volunteer (EMFV) program provides NC residents the opportunity to engage with their communities by supporting NC Cooperative Extension programming in the areas of nutrition, cooking, food safety, and food systems. NC Cooperative Extension provides evidence-based information through community classes and events.

This interest meeting will cover:

The volunteer opportunities available through NC Cooperative Extension

How you can get involved in food and nutrition programs in your community as an Extension Master Food Volunteer

How you can become an Extension Master Food Volunteer

The trainings and opportunities you receive as an Extension Master Food Volunteer

Opportunities to volunteer include:

Food Demos @ Farmers Market

CMS Classroom visits

Mobile Market & Food Pantry Volunteers

Social Media posts

Newsletter writers
