CFCR: Providing Essential Services to Students with Disabilities

All of us at Council for Children's Rights (CFCR) are so grateful for your ongoing support. Your generosity plays a vital role in ensuring that our community's children receive the legal representation & assistance they desperately need.

Right now, the need for advocacy is greater than ever.

There are over 190,000 students with disabilities in NC that are eligible for special education services. Unfortunately, many are still waiting to access these services.

The failure to implement crucial special education services leaves students struggling to access an education fit to their needs & fulfill their potential.

Despite this overwhelming need to protect student's legal rights, there are fewer than 30 attorneys in NC equipped to represent students in these matters.

CFCR stands as one of the only organizations that provides these essential services to students with disabilities free of charge.
