friend–this year, so many books, movies, and songs touched our hearts, made us laugh, and offered new perspectives to consider.

President Obama just shared some of the stories that made an impact on him in 2024 and we want to make sure you’re one of the first to see his picks!

President Obama has always believed that the arts are a powerful form of expression in a democratic culture and platform to fuel positive change. That belief will be reflected in the future Obama Presidential Center, which will feature a community recording studio, auditorium, and a new branch of the Chicago Public Library!

We can’t wait to welcome you to The Obama Presidential Center here in Chicago, but in the meantime, we hope the President’s 2024 picks inspire you to explore new stories and new points of view.
