Joy is contagious! When you support and protect children, you experience a surge of endorphins that only comes from an act of generosity and hope. Spread some joy this year and protect our community's children by supporting the Council for Children's Rights.

By giving to Council for Children's Rights today, you are joining our attorneys and advocates to provide life-changing legal services to children facing extraordinary circumstances. While 2024 posed unique circumstances, your support today can help us close the gap and ensure we continue providing vital services to children in need.

This is your chance to protect our children's access to equitable opportunities and a brighter future. Will you join us in making a difference?

The new year provides new opportunities to use your voice by sharing a gift of hope with our community's children.
