Friend,

North Carolina is facing a housing crisis — and it's time we do something bold about it.

That's why I proudly co-sponsored Senate Bill 750 — the "Restore the American Dream" Act — to make a historic investment in affordable housing across our state.

This bill injects $30 million into the North Carolina Housing Trust Fund and, for the first time in years, provides stable, recurring revenue to build homes, create jobs, and support families.

Here's what's at stake:

- Over 815,000 North Carolinians can't find affordable housing
- Nearly 1 million people are paying more than they can afford just to keep a roof over their heads
- The Housing Trust Fund is sitting at zero dollars — and we're changing that

This is personal. This is urgent. And this is exactly the kind of leadership we need most in Raleigh.

The next move is yours.

Will you rush a donation of $75 today to power this fight forward?

Yes, I'll Donate

This bill isn't just about housing — it's about dignity, economic mobility, and the future of our state. Every single dollar we invest:

- Helps more than 100 families
- Supports over 100 local jobs
- Generates millions in real estate and local tax revenue

We are proving that smart, compassionate policy works — and with your support, we're going to get this bill across the finish line and keep fighting for more.

Stand with me. Let's restore the American Dream for every North Carolinian.

In solidarity,

Senator Joyce Waddell
North Carolina Senate, District 40

P.S. If you're tired of watching working families get priced out of their own communities — don't sit this one out. Chip in now and let's deliver real results.
