Industries of the Southern Piedmont

This Earth Week, we're celebrating Goodwill's role in the circular economy, which is a system that keeps products in circulation for as long as possible. Goodwill is not only good for your wallet and our community, but also for Mother Earth! There are many ways that shopping and donating at Goodwill helps the planet, but we wanted to highlight three in particular.

Three Ways Goodwill Helps the Planet

ONE:
When you shop secondhand, you give items a second chance. We sold more than 20 million items in our stores last year—items that may have otherwise ended up in a landfill.

TWO:
It takes 1,800 gallons of water to grow enough cotton to make one pair of jeans. When you buy secondhand items, you help preserve the planet's water supply.

THREE:

Goodwill helps eliminate electronic waste. We recycled and refurbished more than 1.2 million pounds of electronics last year. Electronics that are donated in working condition and items we're able to refurbish are sold at our tech store, The GRID.

You Can Make a Difference

Goodwill is always looking for gently used items to recycle back into the community. You can drop off your donations at any of our drop-off locations. The best part? The money we make from selling donated goods funds career training courses, job search support services and more—all of which we offer free of charge to thousands of people in our community each year.

You can also donate your electronics—whether or not they work—at our stores and donation centers on any day to be resold or recycled responsibly, or attend one of our upcoming donation and recycling drives on Saturday, April 26.
