Friend,

The NAACP celebrates the numerous victories for democracy following today's election, and we're eagerly awaiting the final results in California! Voters demonstrated that they will not allow the administration to take democracy away from them.

The NAACP fought for democracy this cycle: From training and deploying hundreds of poll monitors, to knocking on thousands of doors, and engaging with tens of thousands of voters, suing election officials for illegal activities, and investing more than three-quarter million dollars in GOTV.

This election represents more than a win for any particular community or state. It's a signal from voters across the country that they are dissatisfied with this current administration and its policy of cruelty.

Across the nation, Black voters, in particular, Black women, are leading the charge for progress, equity, and justice. Let this serve as a message to lawmakers: our communities are paying attention, we're organizing, and we're voting for policies that deliver.

The next chapter of this country will be written by those who organize, participate, and believe in a democracy big enough for all of us. And the NAACP will be there every step of the way. Will you join the fight by making a donation today?
