Rep. Adams Stands with Charlotte as Border Patrol Operation Ends

Dear Friends,

Yesterday, U.S. Customs and Border Patrol agents officially ended their operation in Charlotte, providing relief to our community from their campaign of terror.

Border Patrol's operation in Charlotte-Mecklenburg was an inhumane and unnecessary campaign of terror that disrupted the lives of our entire community. Students stayed home from school, employees missed work, and businesses closed their doors to keep their employees and customers safe.

Charlotte never caved to their cruelty and fear. Citizens instead packed churches for training to empower themselves to respond to Border Patrol agents, parents banded together to safely get children to school, and business owners patrolled the streets to protect their neighbors.

I'm grateful for the community's efforts and am proud that Charlotte will always be a place that stands up for one another.
