Hi Steve,

This Thanksgiving, as we gather with loved ones, we can't help but think of the empty tables in the homes of working families in rural North Carolina - a quiet reminder of a crisis that didn't have to happen. The recent government shutdown may be over in the headlines, but its impact lingers: paused SNAP benefits have turned what should be a season of abundance into one of stress and uncertainty.

This Giving Tuesday — a national day of giving on December 2 — you have the power to strengthen New Rural Project (NRP) so we can continue to show up for our communities when it matters most.

GIVE HOPE TODAY

NRP has grown into a thriving organization that fighters for justice and meets urgent needs because of supporters like you — people who recognize injustice and choose to act. Just this past Tuesday, our team showed up to give back to our rural community. In partnership with the Mineral Springs Improvement Council and Sister Song, we co-hosted a Community Food Distribution in Ellerbe, NC, providing essential food, diapers, and supplies to over 500 families. However, the need remains vast and continues to grow.

Your Giving Tuesday gift can help us continue to show up with care, strength, and determination for neighbors who rely on us. Will you donate today and stand with our community?

In solidarity,

The New Rural Project Team

RESTORE HOPE TODAY!
